Rockdale County Requests Citizen Feedback on Sigman Road Corridor Study

ROCKDALE COUNTY, Ga. – The Rockdale County Planning and Development Department, along with the Collaborative Firm, and through a grant awarded by the Atlanta Regional Commission, has completed the Sigman Road Corridor Study.

Through multiple public workshops with stakeholders, citizens, and the general public, the study has produced recommendations on the design, zoning, and potential development along the portion of Sigman Road which the Georgia Department of Transportation is widening through the year 2024.

The Sigman Road Corridor Study Plan presents a strategic view of Sigman Road, identifying opportunities to create a gateway district beginning at I-20.

The plan is available for review at: <https://rockdalecountyga.gov/planning-and-development-projects/>.
